“ Sending condolences to the Burlingame family... I met Chris in 2007, when my youngest started Music Together, and enjoyed her classes with my children through 2010. We ran into her at the grocery store some years later, when my children were teens, and she still remembered their names! We will be forever grateful for her instilling the love of music in our children's lives. The Steel family (Cathy, Alan, Thomas and William)

“ Just got the information of Chris' death from a Hudson Falls High friend from Chris' class. I saw her last many years ago at a reunion. She had grown into a beautiful woman inside and out. Just as lovely and friendly as she had been in school. Her life changed dramatically when she came to the Lord, somewhere around 9th grade I think. And it was obvious she had continued to follow him throughout her life. I was happy to hear she had continued with her music. She had a beautiful voice (many choir solos). And it must be such comfort to you all that she is with the Savior she has served and loved all these years. God bless all of you who loved her and were fortunate to have her with you throughout her life. I plan to see her again...how about you? She would have wanted me to ask I'm sure.

“ My prayers are with the family members, friends and fans of Christine, who will all miss her until we meet again in Heaven. Chris and her family and I met in 1989 and remained in close contact throughout all the years until about a decade ago. She will remain in my heart as a songbird of God's love and the classics.
