“ Condolences. It is with great sadness that I received the news of the passing of Dora Green. I have known Mrs. Green for my entire life. She was a handsome woman with a kind smile and a soft voice. I do not think there was ever a time when Mrs. Green raised her voice in anger. I came to know Miss Dora, (or Miss Donna as I have been told that I called her as a young child) through my mother, Grace Lolo Barge. I always assumed that Miss Dora was a relative; however, my mother once told me that she baby sat for Mr. and Mrs. Green as a teenager and remained close, truly closer than most family. My mother so loved Mrs. Green. Miss Dora was a religious woman who loved her family and took great pride in her home on Hazel Street. I spent many afternoons sitting in the parlor room or on the front porch. I can still picture Miss Dora standing in front of her enormous stove or in her garden back in the day. I also recall that Miss Dora enjoyed sweets and always kept a piece of hard candy in her black patented leather purse. When our family moved from Stamford in the late 1980s, my mother made a special visit to spend the day with Mrs. Green reminiscing about the old days. Mrs. Green was so genuinely sad to see us go but she also sincerely wished us well and prayed for our safe journey. I was so pleased many years later to be able to have a cookout in Miss Dora's honor when she visited Charlotte, NC as part of her 80th birthday celebration. Last October, I went to dinner with Mrs. Green and her family (our family) in Charlotte and if I remember correctly she had several bowls of ice cream. I was so looking forward to attending her 90th birthday celebration that was to be held in Charlotte prior to her taking ill. Here's to a life well lived! Miss Dora was truly loved by all.
