

Josephine Naso

May 6, 1927 - May 21, 2018

Josephine Naso, a resident of Stamford and previously of New York City, died Monday, May 21st at Stamford Hospital.

Born in NYC in 1927, Josephine attended Music and Art High School, subsequently entertaining our troops following WWII as a singer and performer in the USO. After giving up her professional career, she remained a member of the St. Raymond's church choir in the Bronx for many years.

Josephine was a devoted wife to her husband of 70 years, Philip; a loving mother to her son, Ron and daughter-in-law, Jeanne; and a doting grandmother to her four grandchildren. Family was everything to her. She was happiest when spending time with them and with friends—she always made time for those she loved. She lived her life with unwavering optimism, respect for others, and a love of laughter. She will be greatly missed.

She is survived by her husband, son, daughter-in-law, four grandchildren, brother, five nieces and three nephews.

A wake for Josephine will take place TODAY, Wednesday, May 23rd, from 7pm to 9pm, at Bosak Funeral Home & Cremation, 453 Shippan Avenue, Stamford, CT 06902. The interment will be private.

In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the American Cancer Society, P.O. Box 22478
