“ I still envision PJ as this little girl looking out the screen door window. After years of losing touch my daughter became a coach for challenged people in motion and would always tell me about Paula, never would I imagine that this Paula my daughter knew would turn out to be that little girl PJ. I am so glad our paths crossed again. Cathy, Patty, and Andy I am so sorry for the loss of your baby sister. She has touched many hearts. My prayer and deepest condolences to all of you.
