“ For the years I've known the Puns, Wilfred became like a second father to me. I have way too many memorable conversations with him to mention just one memory but I will say his humbleness is unmatched, his love for family and friends is unconditional, his wisdom to me is humorous and inspiring. Truly one of the most strong willed, hard working and loving people I have the honor of knowing. His legacy will forever live on throughout his sons and daughters. And I will forever cherish the time I've spent with him.
